EVENT REPORT

Two-Day Faculty Development Programme on

“EFFECTIVE MENTORING”

Under

Equity Action Plan, TEQIP-III, JNTUH

The main aim of the FDP is to make the participants aware of the importance of mentoring in an academic setting. It also focused the ways in which one can become a better mentor and included topics like identifying needs of individual mentees and how to formulate an effective developmental plan for them. The program included increased sensitization to the process of mentoring, better awareness of the mentor-mentee dynamics, and enhanced mentoring skills for innovative and more effective student mentoring. This FDP described a whole new concept of mentoring that encouraged faculty members to think differently, understand how mentoring is practiced in the corporate world, how to engage the mentee, and establish a fruitful mentor-mentee relationship. The programme generated a lot of synergy amongst faculty of different engineering colleges and a renewed commitment to mentorship in a style that optimizes the latent potential of our mentees.

Day 1: 02.08.2019 Friday

Pallavi Engineering College organized a two-day faculty development programme on “Effective mentoring” for the faculty members of various colleges during 2nd-3rd August 2019. This Faculty development programme was sponsored by TEQIP III, Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University, Hyderabad under Equity Action Plan. The main objective of the programme is to enable the faculty members in mentoring the student community leading to a positive path in career and life. The event was begun with the prayer to the almighty for his grace on the mankind and giving us the opportunity to conduct the event successfully. Dr. Archana Nanduri, renowned Psychologist and counselor inaugurated the programme as Chief Guest and given key note address about various mentoring skills. Sri. M. Komaraiah, Vice-Chairman. Dr. N. Satyanarayana, Principal, Dr. K. Nagajyothi, Vice-principal addressed the participants and elaborated about the objectives of the FDP. Dr. A. Rajani, Professor of ECE and EAP coordinator, JNTUH was addressed about various EAP activities.
